VERY LATEST.

THIS IS BRITISH, YOU KNOW.

CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA, Aug. 21st.—The report that the Transvaal government had handed its reply to the British agent at Pretoria is confirmed and proposition of Great Britain for a joint commission to investigate the effect which a franchise reform legislation would have on outlanders is not accepted, but a fresh proposition advanced.

MONSTER ENGINE.

Illinois Central Will Have the Largest in the World.

The Brooks Locomotive Works of Dunkirk, New York, will turn out within a few days a locomotive for the Illinois Central Railway larger than any other locomotive in the world. It will be eight tons heavier than the locomotives built by the Brooks Works a year ago for the Great Northern Railway, which are the largest locomotives in the world. This giant locomotive will be a twelve-wheel freight, with cylinder of 23-inch diameter and 30-inch stroke. It will have eight drivers of 57-inch diameter. The boiler will have 424 two-inch flues, 14 feet and 8 inches long. The total weight of the engine is 218,000 pounds, and with a tender 330,000 pounds. It will have tractive force or draw-bar pull of 52,000 pounds, or 26 per cent. more than either of the monster locomotives built for the Great Northern.

Let Them Go By.

Don't try to cross the tracks in front of one of the fast trains, says an exchange. They are often moving at the rate of a mile a minute. An ordinary horse takes fully a half a minute in pulling a vehicle across the track, unless the animal was urged at the top of his speed. Even then an engine a quarter of a mile distant on your approaching the crossing would be on to you, you will have a narrow escape.

Near Wataga last Friday, a young man named Fred Wilmot, was out for a pleasure drive in company with a young lady, Miss May Perkins of Moline. They saw a train in the distance flying towards the crossing just ahead of them. The young man whipped up his horse in an attempt to cross the track, but the carriage was struck by the engine and the occupants were thrown high in the air. The young lady struck on her head and was killed, while her companion was taken to the hospital dangerously injured. Let nothing tempt you to try to cross the track when the train is approaching. It is dangerous, and you do not need to participate in a tragedy to convince you of it.

Moonlight Excursion.

This evening the Y. M. C. A. will give its fourth steamboat excursion. The barge has been secured and a large number of people is expected. The weather man promises an unusually fine evening, while a busy committee has arranged the details for the trip. A mandolin club will keep the fun going and during the hour's stop on Myers' Island there will be opportunity to secure refreshments and witness an athletic exhibition. The general public is invited to join this jolly party of excursionists.

Sister of Lincoln's Wife Dies.

Mrs. Francis J. Wallace, who was the only remaining sister of Mrs. Abraham Lincoln, died at Springfield Monday morning, aged 82 years. Two sons, William and Edward, and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Wallace Baker, wife of Major John P. Baker, of the regular army, survive her. Two half-sisters are living, Mrs. Ben Harden Helm, wife of General Helm of Confederate army fame, Elizabethtown, Ky., and Mrs. Margaret Kellogg of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Lost an Arm.

William Cottrill, a Savanna man who was braking on a Burlington train lost an arm at Milledgeville while doing some switching Friday.

—The ball game, to have been played yesterday between the Riverside and Dewey clubs did not materialize. The Dewey team failed to make its appearance.

—Lawyer Scovill, who defended Gai tea, the assassin of President Garfield, is now living the life of a hermit in a cabin in the woods of Indiana, near Mud Lake.

STOPPED THE GAME

NO SUNDAY BASE BALL IN STERLING.

Game Nothing to Nothing at Finish of Second Innings.

A base ball team from Freeport went to Sterling yesterday to play a Sunday game with the Sterling boys. It was agreed that to satisfy the church people of Sterling that the game would be stopped by the police in the seventh or eighth inning. That would satisfy the players, the audience, the rooters and the christians, all, as five innings constitutes a game of ball if for any reason the whole nine innings can not be played out.

Yesterday things were made so hot for the chief of police, Major Lawrie, that he was compelled to walk faster than he intended toward the base ball park and just as the first half of the third innings was begun he called a halt.

Neither team had made a run and the game promised to be a fine one. There was a large crowd present, with quite a few ladies.

The local manager, Edward Dayton, and William Gallagher, were arrested and gave bonds for their appearance in the police court today.

Kimes and Stratton of Dixon played with the Freeport team and Andrew Donnelly with the Sterling nine.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

One Hundred Teachers at Amboy—All Should Be There.

The Lee County Teachers' Institute opened this morning at Amboy with eighty-eight teachers in attendance and that number will be swelled to one hundred before night.

In his opening address County Superintendent I. F. Edwards impressed upon the teachers the necessity and benefit, to themselves and the cause, of their presence at the institute. As an inducement he stated that their record at the institute would be taken into consideration when they applied for a certificate.

Instructors for the institute present are:

Prof. Davis Selmsley, of the State Normal, arithmetic and reading.

Prof. Mary L. Wood, Oak Park, primary work. She is doing practical kindergarten work with ten children from five to six years of age.

Prof. W. A. Furr, superintendent of city schools at Ottawa, history and geography.

Prof. Joseph Carter, superintendent of Champaign city schools, nature study, and state course of study.

Fast Sol B.

The Davenport Democrat gives the following description of the race there last week by C. H. Hughes' horse, Sol B. in 2:10 1/2:

"The next race called was the gem of the day—the 2:12 pace—and it had eight starters: Sol B, who drew the pole, Sonas, A. R., Charlie Fewell, Byzantine, Lord Simrall, Young Joe and Lord Roseberry. In the first heat Sol B took the lead at the word and kept it, altho Fewell and Young Joe fought him hard up the back stretch, but in the final drive Jonas, on the outside, shot out from the bunch and gave Sol a mighty warm tussle, finishing a close second in 2:10 1/2. The time of the heat was 2:10 1/2. The second heat was a repetition, virtually, of the first, altho Young Joe went a game race and landed in second place, beating Lord Simrall out at the wire. The third heat was a corker, and George West, who had been content with laying Lord Roseberry up, challenged the speedy Sol soon after leaving the wire. At the quarter Charlie Fewell rushed up and was at even terms with Sol, while the Lord lapped his wheel. A blanket would have covered the three as they headed into the stretch, but the mighty son of Conductor stuck his nose under the wire a short length in front of Sol in exactly 2:10. Lord Roseberry's victory cheered the betting ring, who had played him heavily to win, but they were doomed to disappointment, for in the fourth heat Sol B took the lead before the first turn and stayed there, tho Roseberry did his best to lead the crowd under the wire.

THE PARENT INSTITUTE,
51 West St., DUBLIN, IRE.

The Keeley Treatment no longer requires special commendation from any source. Its results have been before the public since 1883. 300,000 men and women have been cured by its application. Nearly 15,000 physicians have taken the treatment successfully. It cures positively in every case, and the cure is always permanent. If the graduate has only a preference for a sober life. No appetite or craving remains to be resisted, hence the well-meaning man has no battle of resistance to fight. The treatment is positively safe for man, woman or child. No patient was ever injured by it. It is the best tonic treatment to the world, and those who take it receive other substantial benefits besides the cure of their respective addictions. There are several hundred other so-called cures for alcoholism and narcotic drug using, but the fact remains that THE KEELEY CURE is the only thoroughly tried, tested and proven cure with twenty years' record behind it, and with cured men and women in almost every village or city to testify to its healing benefits.

—A battalion of newly enlisted marines numbering nearly 400 passed thru Mendota and were royally treated to a dinner, as we learn from the Reporter.

—Dr. Thomas, the European palmet, is playing an engagement at Belvidere. The last one we had here played havoc with a lady's heart before he left.

—George Keading, a 10-year-old lad of Rockford, stepped on the head of a catfish ten days ago and a horn penetrating his foot poisoned it. He died from lockjaw Friday.

—Marcellus Wainwright, who lives near Port Byron, is believed to be the largest man in Illinois. He is six feet and nine inches in height and weighs 315 pounds. Mr. Wainwright will lead one of the Moline street fair parades.

—Joseph Dupis, the French dwarf who is a familiar figure on the streets of Kankakee, is said to be 100 years old. He is at present living with his fourth wife. He has a son about 80 years of age. Dupis was a rider of race horses in Europe. He looks good for a hundred years more and is as bright intellectually as in his youth, the Kankakee Gazette avers.

—Every cyclist should be well acquainted with the wheel. It is an erratic sort of a machine at least. To illustrate: A Princeton man rented a wheel the other night, not noticing it to be of the chainless variety. When resting along the roadside he noticed the absence of the chain and looked almost half the night to find it. Not being successful he got a kindhearted old farmer to haul him and the wheel back to town where the owner naturally gave him the laugh.

—The Methodists of Northern Illinois are looking forward with especial interest to the annual meeting of the Rock River conference, to be held this year in Rockford, beginning Oct. 4. It will probably be the most important event in the history of that body because it will be the vindication of the great principle promulgated last year of equal representation at the general conference at Chicago. This means that the laymen are to have equal privileges with clergymen in formulating the laws of the church.

GOOD ROAD CONVENTION.

For Northern Illinois at Rockford.

A good roads and public improvement convention for Northern Illinois will be held in Rockford on Thursday, September 7. The counties forming the convention are: Boone, Carroll, DeKalb, Jo Daviess, Kane, Lee, McHenry, Ogle, Stevenson and Winnebago. This opens a new era in internal state development and an epoch in road history. The convention will be under the auspices of the state and interstate good roads and public improvement association with headquarters at St. Louis, Mo., and in connection with the Rockford's Great Fair.

Supervisor E. C. Parsons has been appointed chairman of the Dixon township committee and he has appointed as his associates: W. B. Page, Jerre Hettler, C. F. Ball and E. E. Shaw.

The purposes of the convention are, first, to organize similar association in each county which will prepare for the selection of delegates to attend the state convention which will be held at Springfield, September 23. Second, to create an interest in the subject of good roads and public improvement, by given an opportunity to hear eminent authorities on these subjects and to see exhibition in good road building.

POLICEMAN KILLED BY BURGLAR.

William McGuire of LaSalle Meets Death in Performance of Duty.

William McGuire, a prominent democratic politician and a member of the LaSalle police force, is dead at his home in LaSalle as the result of wounds inflicted by a burglar Saturday night. Intelligence that the home of I. Guthmann was the scene of a burglary was brought to the police headquarters at 8 o'clock and McGuire responded immediately. As he approached the house several shots were fired from a window, and the officer fell, struck in the abdomen. He died Sunday morning. McGuire made a deposition saying he thought his assailant was John Robinson, who was arrested in bumboat on the river at midnight. Two other suspects are also under arrest.

COMMUNE IS REVIVED

Paris Has a Few Dark Hours of a Bad Sort of Renaissance.

ANARCHISTS GO ON THE RAMPAGE.

Windows in Several Churches Broken and One Wantonly Wrecked as to Its Interior.

Crucifix and Image of the Virgin Broken and Other Obloquy Heaped on the Sacred Objects in the Building—Knives and Pistols Used by the Mob, but No One Killed—Situation in the Dreyfus Case—Latest Testimony at Rennes.

Rennes, Aug. 21.—The Dreyfus court martial reconvened this morning at the usual hour. Maitre Labori was not present. The witness was Colonel Fabre, who reiterated his conviction of the guilt of Dreyfus, saying "I am sure he wrote the bordereau."

Paris, Aug. 21.—The prefecture of police gives the following statistics of yesterday's riots: Three hundred and eighty persons were injured; 360 were taken to the hospitals; fifty-nine police agents were wounded, besides Commissaries Goutier and Dolmeine; 150 persons were arrested, of whom eighty are detained in custody.

Paris, Aug. 21.—Paris was yesterday the scene of most serious disturbance, recalling some aspects of the commune. In response to an appeal of the journals Le Peuple and La Petite Republique, groups of anarchists and socialists gathered about 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the Place de la Republique. The police had taken precautions and there seemed no danger of disorders. Sebastian Faure and Faberot, well-known revolutionary anarchists, were the ringleaders. Faure, standing on the pedestal of the statue which rises in the center of the Place de la Republique, addressed the crowd. Among other things he said that the anarchists should be masters of the streets. The police then interfered and dislodged Faure and Faberot, making three arrests.

Pistols and Knives Come into Action. The crowd at this point dispersed, but a column of demonstrators headed by Faure and Henri D'Horr made for the Place de la Nation. The police broke through the column and a struggle for the mastery followed. Shots were fired, and M. Goullier, commissary of police, was twice stabbed with a knife. This threw the police into momentary confusion. The mob reassembled and ran toward the Place de la Nation. The police, reinforced by a squad that had been held in reserve, made another attempt to stem the current, and fresh, fierce fighting occurred, three constables being wounded.

Faure and D'Horr Arrested.

Faure and D'Horr jumped into a passing street car that was going to the Place de la Republique, and the car driver on arriving there gave a signal to the police, who immediately arrested them both, together with two other anarchists, Joseph Ferrier and Jean Perrin. All were conveyed to the Chateau d'Eau barracks. Only D'Horr was found in possession of firearms. In the meantime the anarchist mob retraced its course to the Place de la Republique, smashing the windows of religious edifices on the way. Suddenly, either at the word of command or in obedience to impulse—the column made a loop and curved toward the Church of St. Ambroise, where the rioters smashed the windows.

COMMUNE APPEARS ONCE MORE.

Mob Wrecks the Interior of the Church of St. Joseph.

Proceeding thence toward the Faubourg du Temple, which it reached at the corner of the Rue Darboy and the Rue St. Mauri-Popincourt, the mob formed up into a compact body. Hatchets were suddenly produced, with long knives stolen from the counters of shops, and a concerted rush was made upon the church of St. Joseph. The aged sacristan, seeing the mob, hastily closed the outer gates, but these were soon forced with hatchets and bars of iron. The massive oaken doors were then attacked. The wild horde burst into the church, which instantly became a scene of pillage and sacrilege. Altars and statues were hurled to the floor and smashed, pictures were rent, candlesticks, ornaments, and hosts from the high altars were thrown down and trampled under foot.

The crucifix above was made the target for missiles, and the figure of the Saviour was fractured in several places. Then, while raucous voices sang the "Carmagnole" the chairs were carried outside, piled up and set on fire in the center of the square fronting the church. When this stage was reached the crucifix was pulled down and thrown into the flames. Suddenly the cry was raised that the statue of the Virgin had been forgotten and the crowd returned and tore this down also.

Meanwhile the sacristan, who had been captured by the anarchists, escaped and called the police and Republican Guards, who promptly arrived with many constables. They were compelled to fall back in order to form up into line of defense, as the anarchists attacked them viciously with knives. At length the officers began to gain the mastery. A score of anarchists took refuge in an adjacent house. Others entrenched themselves in the belfry and fiercely defended themselves by showering missiles on the Republican Guards; but finally these were dislodged.

Twenty anarchists were arrested, taken to the police station, searched, and found to be carrying revolvers, loaded sticks and knives.

When the police entered the church the anarchists had just set fire to the pulpit. The interior of the edifice was a complete wreck. Several valuable old pictures that can never be replaced were ruined.

The demonstrators, so far as Gare de l'Est, have been repeatedly driven back by police charges, the crowd crying "Vive l'armee" and "Vive la Republique." About 10 p. m. disorders occurred on the Boulevard de Magenta and Boulevard de Strasbourg. Several revolver shots were fired, but nobody was injured. Two newspaper kiosks were burned and several arrests were made in connection therewith.

There is no change in the situation at the building in the Rue de Chabrol, where M. Jules Guerin and his anti-Semite companions are entrenched in a state of siege against police, and cut off from all communication with the balance of the city—even their water, gas and drainage being cut off. Shortly after midnight noisy crowds began demonstrating in the Rue de Chabrol, but they were soon dispersed by the police. Fifty-six persons have been reported injured, including several policemen. No one, so far as known, was injured by firearms. Nearly all were hurt by being crushed or trodden under foot. A body of rioters who had taken refuge in the court yard of the Gare de l'Est was expelled by the police, who made twenty-five arrests. Quiet has now been restored.

TRIAL OF CAPTAIN DREYFUS.

Three of His Opponents on the Stand—An Important Admission.

Rennes, Aug. 21.—Three opponents of Captain Dreyfus testified at Saturday's session of the court martial. Major Cuignet, General Boisdeffre and General Goussier each proclaimed his belief that the prisoner is guilty. The alleged forgery of the Schneider letter was discussed by Major Cuignet, who insisted that the "report," as he called it, must be genuine. He said that other documents on file would prove the department in the right. Attorney Demange showed that Cuignet was contradicting former statements and several times he had the witness perplexed.

An important admission was made by General Boisdeffre. Replying to questions by the court headmilled that the leakage at military headquarters continued after the condemnation of Dreyfus. It ceased for a year, but in 1895 a paper was discovered proving the communication to a foreign government of a document relating to the distribution of the artillery and showing that a foreign government was perfectly acquainted with the changes made.

It is probable that a formal contradiction of the statements of the French generals at Rennes regarding the Schneider letter will be communicated to the French government from Vienna with a request that the generals in question publicly withdraw them. Such action by Austria-Hungary would break the ice for the German and Italian governments. And then the whole thing would come out, perhaps correctly. Emperor William is represented in the dispatches as holding off because he does not want to even appear to interfere with the international concerns of France.

Labori Walks in the Garden.

Rennes, Aug. 21.—Saturday afternoon Maitre Labori was able to take a walk in the garden and to attend to important business, but he received only Colonel Picquart.

WILL BE A BIG FIGHT.

Labori Is to Begin War Against the Window Glass Combine.

Pittsburg, Aug. 21.—The Post says: A salient feature of the fight of the window glass workers against the trust of manufacturers now in process of formation will develop in a few days. The building trades are expected to join hands with the glass workers in the contest. Craftsmen will use only window glass manufactured in independent and co-operative factories—those outside of the trust. The scheme means a strong alliance of labor against a proposed combination of capital.

The independent concerns will be given the preference in the use of their output by using it exclusively in the construction of buildings. M. P. Carrick, general organizer of the building trades, said: "It might as well come now as at any time. The painters of the country are going to take the matter up as bodies first, and put themselves on record. The organization is against trusts and is willing to take the lead."

Utah Artillerymen Reach Home.

Salt Lake City, Aug. 21.—Batteries A and B, Utah artillery, arrived from San Francisco Saturday. The soldiers were given a hearty welcome. The various military organizations and civic societies escorted the returning volunteers through the gaily decorated streets to Calder's Park where the governor and other state officers delivered addresses of welcome.

Russell Harrison Has Yellow Fever. Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 21.—Major Russell B. Harrison, inspector general, is critically ill with yellow fever. The disease had been progressing for three days, although not pronounced yellow fever until yesterday afternoon.

His Long Ride Nearly Ended.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 21.—James K. Rappe, of Marinette, Wis., the G. A. R. veteran who started on a bicycle for the national encampment July 10, has reached here. Despite his 82 years he has stood the trip well.

DON'T GIVE UP.

Discouraged Citizens Will Find Comfort in This Experience.

Don't give up. Discouragement has lost many a life. Fight it out. Try every means. Failure in one case does not mean success is an impossibility. Everybody makes mistakes. Experience is the modern instructor. Profit by the experience of others. It may save your life.

Mr. C. C. Atkins, Foreman of the News Department of the Sterling Gazette, Sterling, Illinois, says: "Our brief but satisfactory experience with Doan's Kidney Pills convinces us of the merits of that remedy. The experience was satisfactory because it was brief, and it was convincing because it did not take months or even weeks to accomplish the cure of a somewhat obstinate case of kidney trouble. At the time my attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills a member of my family was using a local physician's prescriptions, but obtaining unsatisfactory results, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store, and after using one box we had no further use for this prescription and continued the use of the pills until the results were so decided and definite that we stopped the use of the preparation."

Just such emphatic endorsement can be had right here at home. Drop into Horton's Drug Store and ask what his customers report.

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold for 50 cents by all dealers, or mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole agents for the U. S.

TWO SMALL FIGHTS

Reported from the Philippine Islands in Which the Rebels Lose.

LIEUTENANT ON OUR SIDE KILLED

And Four Men Wounded, One of Them Another Lieutenant—Engagement on the Island of Negros Costs the Enemy Nineteen Dead for Sure—Prof. Schurman's Opinion of the Problem—Jimenez Leaves Havana for San Domingo.

Manila, Aug. 20.—One lieutenant of the Twelfth infantry was killed and another was seriously wounded while reconnoitering Saturday evening north of Angeles. The Americans encountered a large force of insurgents and drove them from their positions.

Lieutenant Cole, of the Sixth infantry, with eighty men, encountered 100 insurgents entrenched in the mountains of the island of Negros and routed them after an hour and a half of severe fighting. The Americans had three men slightly hurt. Nineteen dead insurgents were counted in the trenches. Six rifles and a quantity of reserve ammunition were captured. The insurgents recently cut the cable in Laguna de Bay leading to Calamba on the south shore of the lake, but the break has been repaired.

Washington Hears of the Fighting.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Two dispatches announcing engagements with the Philippine insurgents were received at the war department yesterday from General Otis. One, dated Manila, Aug. 20, is as follows: "Lieutenant Cole, Sixth infantry, with eighty men, attacked and routed 100 of the enemy entrenched at Tihuan, Negros mountains, having three men slightly wounded. The enemy left in the entrenchments nineteen dead, six rifles, and all the reserve ammunition. Supposed to be armed Tagois who a few days since crossed from Panay in small boats.

The other dispatch is dated Manila, Aug. 19, and says: "First Lieutenant Alfred W. Drew, Twelfth infantry, was instantly killed, and First Lieutenant Willis Uline, of the same regiment, was severely wounded yesterday in an attack on the insurgents in the vicinity of Angeles by two companies of the Twelfth infantry. No other casualties. Enemy routed."

JIMINEZ DEPARTS FROM HAVANA.

Gen. Brooke Orders His Release and He Goes to Santiago de Cuba.

Havana, Aug. 21.—Immediately upon learning of the arrest of General Juan Isidro Jimenez, Major General Brooke, governor general of Cuba, gave orders for the release of the prisoner. The aspirant to the presidency of Santo Domingo left Cienfuegos yesterday morning on board the Polaria, bound for Manzanillo and Santiago de Cuba. After his release he remained at the Union hotel until he left the city. He complained bitterly to his friends of the arrest. It is rumored in Cienfuegos that a yacht will meet him at Manzanillo.

Before leaving he said to the correspondent of the Associated Press: "My mission is perfectly peaceful. I am unarmed and am going home in answer to my country's call to take peaceful possession of the presidency. It was no more lawful to arrest me than it would be to arrest Mr. McKinley when, after his election, he was going from Canton to Washington. I am not a soldier taking expeditions with me. Nothing of that sort is necessary. My appearance in the island will be the signal for peace and good government.

"An enthusiastic welcome will be accorded me by 90 per cent. of the population of Santo Domingo—rich and poor, men, women and children desiring my arrival. I have absolute assurance that the acting president will co-operate with me as soon as he sees what the public desires. I cannot understand the action of the United States toward me. Many of my best friends are Americans, and my policy when president will be to establish the closest relations between the two governments."

SCHURMAN ON THE FILIPINO.

Says That When Educated He Is as Good as Anybody.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 21.—President Schurman, of the Philippine commission, passed through Omaha Saturday en route home from Manila. In an interview he said: "It will be a surprise to many Americans to know that the educated Filipino is the equal of any other civilized people in the world. Americans must deal fairly with the Filipino. He is entitled to sympathetic consideration. There are many pleasing traits in his character.

"His home life is exemplary and as a class he is well disposed toward his neighbor and his superior. Once his confidence is gained, it is gained for good. He is frank, straightforward, manly, the misanderstaring will all be discarded and the Filipino will realize that the American is his friend."

Other views of the professor expressed are summarized as follows: The rebellion is not a Philippine rebellion. The rebellion does not even embrace all of the island of Luzon. No more than 1,500,000 of the 9,000,000 people of the Philippines are in revolt. All of the other people of the entire Philippine group of 800 islands, with the exception of the Tagalos, who comprise one-half of the natives of Luzon, are neutral. The natives of the other islands, who are nominally in revolt, are in fact only terrorized and coerced by the Tagalos.

FATAL FIGHT TO FOUR.

Three Against One, but They Are All Dead Now.

Shreveport, La., Aug. 21.—News has just reached here from Lake End, Natchitoches parish, of a desperate fight between Callie Brown, Robert Lee Brown and Dr. W. H. Glover, on one side, and B. G. Freeman on the other. Freeman shot to kill, and with his first shots Callie Brown and Dr. Glover fell dead upon the floor. The tragedy occurred in Freeman's store. The third shot from Freeman's revolver felled Robert Lee Brown, who pleaded with Freeman to spare his life. The latter allowed Brown to leave the front door. Brown stepped to the door, firing at Freeman as he went.

The latter, though wounded, sent a bullet through Brown's breast, and both expired, leaving four dead men on the floor of the store. All the parties were men of high standing. The trouble grew out of an old grudge between Callie Brown and Freeman. About an hour before the tragedy occurred Freeman and Callie Brown had a difficulty in which several shots were exchanged, but neither were hurt.

WAS IT COLLINS' MONEY?

Negroes Find Over $5,000 Near a Place Where He Was Robbed.

St. Louis, Aug. 21.—Three negroes who presented a shoe-box full of mutilated United States currency, representing probably more than $5,000, to the sub-treasury for redemption were arrested. They declared that one of their number named James Martin had found the bills in an unused wagon road at Meramee Highlands, a suburb of St. Louis, near the spot where in June, 1897, Charles D. Collins, the Memphis race horse man, was beaten into insensibility and robbed of $5,650 in paper money.

The negroes were released, but the money was retained. The police believe this may be the money stolen from Collins. Martin Ensley, also a prominent Tennessean, who was said to have been with Collins at the time of the assault and robbery, was held on suspicion, but was released, as his friend refused to prosecute.

MCCOY IS "ALL RIGHT"

In Spite of Being Knocked Out by a Practically Unknown.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—"Kid" McCoy sparred three rounds Saturday night with a well-known local amateur heavy weight at an entertainment given by the Griddle club. The "Kid" was greeted with enthusiasm by the club members, and as he stepped to the chair assigned to him some one started the slogan "What's the matter with 'Kid' McCoy?" "He's all right!" yelled everybody in concert.

McCoy did not have his misfortune of Friday night thrown up to him. McCormack, who literally knocked the expert middleweight out, is an almost unknown boxer, and it was a chance blow, got in because the "Kid" was not vigilant enough. They are to meet here in a six-round bout again on Sept. 8.

Was the Boy Murdered?

Toledo, O., Aug. 21.—The 12-year-old son of George Allbaugh, of this city, who suddenly disappeared from his parents near Monroe, Mich., Friday, has been accounted for. The body of the boy was found floating in the water with an ugly gash in the head. The boy had been seen in company with a man, and it is believed that he was murdered and his body thrown into the water to conceal the crime.

MINE TROUBLES END.

So It Is Once More Reported with Reference to the Pana Collieries.

THEY NOW ARE TO BE UNIONIZED

And Go to Work Inside of Twenty Days—Governor Tanner Ill with Malaria That Will Lay Him Up for a Week—Soldier Charged with Stealing Blankets Pleads Guilty—Sale of the Indianapolis and Eastern Railway.

Pana, Ills., Aug. 21.—President John M. Hunter, of the State United Mine Workers' Association of America, was here and together with the local officers held a consultation with Superintendent Broehl and Secretary Puterbaugh, of the Pana Coal company. As a result it is authentically stated that the old mine will resume operations with union labor. President Hunter refused to make a statement further than that everything pointed to an early settlement between operators and union miners.

Union Miners Are Rejoicing.

Secretary Puterbaugh says: "No more non-union men will be employed by the Pana mine officials, and is now on duty. The Springside and Penwell management refuse to give out any statements, but it is known they are anxious to resume, and it will do so as soon as the old mine opens up. This will settle the sixteen months' lock-out, and there is much rejoicing among the union miners, as well as business men and citizens.

Story Confirmed at Springfield.

Springfield, Ills., Aug. 21.—State President John M. Hunter, of the United Mine Workers of America, has returned from Pana, where he was in consultation with the mine owners there of the Pana Coal company, and as a result of the conference it is authentically stated that the mine will resume operations with union labor in twenty days.

MORE TROUBLE ON THE CANAL.

Chicago Sanitary Trustees Talk of Doing the Work Themselves.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—The sanitary district of Chicago, from present indications, will take possession, probably, of at least three sections, remove the delinquent contractors, and complete the $400,000 worth of work at the expense of the contractors and their bondsmen. This action has been made necessary by reason of the alleged negligence of the contractors and their apparent indifference to their contract obligations and the desire of the trustees to complete the work and turn on the water by Dec. 1, 1899.

At a secret session of the trustees the matter was fully discussed and a special call was issued for today to take definite action. Several of the trustees admitted the gravity of the situation, and Trustee Alexander J. Jones talked freely of the critical conditions confronting the board.

GOV. TANNER IS ILL.

High Fever and Will Have to Let Work Go for a Week.

Springfield, Ills., Aug. 21.—Governor Tanner was taken suddenly ill Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clock at the executive mansion with a severe chill. Physicians were immediately summoned and the sufferer was relieved in a short time. At night he was resting easier and it was thought was out of danger.

Last night Governor Tanner was no better. Dr. George N. Kreider, the attending physician, said the governor was suffering with malaria and that his fever was high. He will probably be unable to attend the duties of his office before at least a week.

Sale of an Illinois Railway.

Springfield, Ills., Aug. 21.—Master in Chancery Stuart Brown Saturday filed in the United States circuit court a report of the sale of the St. Louis, Indianapolis and Eastern railroad, sold at Robinson, Ills., by him Friday to the Illinois Central for $790,000, under the foreclosure of a mortgage of the Central Trust company. The court will approve the sale on Sept. 1. The Illinois Central will probably build from Switz City, Ind., the terminal of the road bought, to Louisville, Ky., thus giving it an air line from Effingham to Louisville.

Pleaded Guilty to Theft.

Springfield, Ills., Aug. 21.—Before the court martial at Camp Lincoln two privates of company K, of Rockford, appeared. Robert Lane was charged with using disrespectful language to an officer, and Bert Dunden was charged with stealing blankets, etc., from the state arsenal. Both pleaded guilty, and the court made a finding. The report of the finding will not be made public until it is confirmed by Adjutant General Reece.

War Against a Street Railway.

LaSalle, Ills., Aug. 21.—War has been declared by Mayor Hoerner and Alderman Peru against the City Electric Railway company connecting Peru and LaSalle and the police force is watching the construction men of the company who are building a switch, with orders to arrest any one starting work. The railway company owes $1,500 taxes and its refusal to pay caused the trouble.

Sale of a Springfield Paper.

Springfield, Ills., Aug. 21.—Henry Schlang, proprietor and editor of The Staats Wochenblatt, has purchased the Springfield Zeitung of Dr. Gustavus A. H. Wendlandt. The publication of the Zeitung will be discontinued. Dr. Wendlandt will remove to Wisconsin.

NEEDS OF THE PORTO RICANS.

One Hundred Thousand Persons Have to Be Fed or Assisted.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Secretary Root Saturday made public the following cablegram from General Davis at San Juan, Porto Rico, under date of Aug. 18: "I suggest that all relief committees in the states report to a central committee appointed by you, and all funds collected be deposited in New York or Washington to its credit; funds to be used at present for the purchase of food, clothing, medicines, etc. At least 1,050 tons of food should be shipped weekly until further notice. Have now fairly full reports from the whole island. Cannot reduce previous estimate of 100,000 to be fed or assisted. Am starting public works as rapidly as possible, and hope soon to get large numbers on a self-sustaining basis.

"If the local committees act without concert duplication and waste would be sure to result. Therefore I suggest a central committee to regulate this, and would give assurance to contributors that donation will be wisely handled. Send all clothing and medicines offered. Fully one-half beans and rice should be shipped in sacks weighing 100 pounds per sack for it must get to the interior on pack animals. The sacking material will be useful for clothing." Secretary Root has appointed the suggested central committee.

FIVE LOST IN A SQUALL.

Schooner Hunter Savidge Capsizes On Pointe Aux Barques.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 21.—A Tribune special from Harbor Beach says: Five lives were lost yesterday afternoon by the capsizing off Pointe Aux Barques of the schooner Hunter Savidge. She was bound from Sarnia to Alpena, and when struck by a squall capsized. The following were drowned: Mrs. John Mullerweiss, of Alpena, wife of the vessel's owner; Etta Mullerweiss, aged 6; Mrs. Fred Sharpsteen, wife of the captain; ——— Sharpsteen, son of the captain; Mate Thomas Dubuy.

Details are very meager, and the fate of the rest of the crew is unknown. Wrecking parties have left for the scene. The Hunter Savidge was built at Grand Haven, Mich., in 1879, and was owned by John Mullerweiss, of Alpena. His wife had been ill for some time and was making a trip on the vessel for her health.

But His Clothes Were Made in the Monadnock Block, Chicago.

New York, Aug. 21.—A well dressed, dark complexioned man about 28 years old shot and killed himself with a revolver on a bench in Central park. His clothing was of excellent quality, and made by a tailor in the Monadnock block, Chicago. Sewed in red silk on his linen were the initials D. and T. The man was 5 feet 9 inches in height, and weighed about 150 pounds; his hair is dark brown and curly, his eyes blue and his mustache small and dark brown.

He was dressed in a check suit, laced russet shoes, plaid hosiery, balbrigan underwear, a blue check outing shirt, white collar, polka-dot tie and a white straw hat. In the bosom of his shirt was a small red stud with a pearl in the center.

Afro-American Convention.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—The Afro-American convention which adjourned Saturday adopted resolutions denouncing lynching and criticizing the president of the United States for permitting such things to exist in a free country. A resolution denouncing Booker T. Washington for not attending was defeated by the committee to which it was referred. Bishop Walters, of New Jersey, was elected president.

Present Day Thoughts.

BY G. GROSVENOR DAWE.

The New Man Rich.—Despite what some some of us may feel prompted to say, in our haste, regarding the sin of being rich, our sober thought convinces us that it is possible for some men to grow rich and yet remain honest—at least we think that it could be so with ourselves were any such good fortune to come our way. It would indeed be a great sanity if, before judging others, we would get into the habit of placing ourselves in their positions.
It would save the world from much that is harsh and heart-breaking and unworthy in criticism.

It often happens that a man with a sort of second sight, either cultivated or natural, can see in his mind's eye
the value of an idea or neglected land-and can develop it so that on the hillside and on the flat, where men never lived before, there shall arise the walls and the marts of a city. And we will declare therefore that even if we have hitherto denounced as robbery that which was enterprise and foresight, we will not any more blind ourselves to the fact that the more complex our civilization becomes the more frequently will one man see the broad opening for effort where the blind eye of another feels only an adamant wall of difficulty and of fruitlessness.

The new man—rich—recognizes the righteousness of the old statement that
"to whom much is given of him much shall be required"—a truth that has been understood, more or less, since men first began to ally themselves with other men, but whose greatest power and whose greatest beauty is blossoming forth in these ending days of a great century. The influence of the new man—rich—is felt in the social life of the day. For he it is who can found libraries, can endow hospitals, can offer the nucleus of museums and can support the modern idea of shining the light of university training and university thought into the dark places of crowded cities.

He understands that wealth brings with it a burden, unrecognized by those who have no wealth. The heaviest load is to know how to administer it without doing harm to others. If he should say to himself, "I have no right to any more than I can spend for my needs," which after all is all—and then should go out on the street to scatter his coin hither and thither he could not possibly find a way of doing more harm; for the brutish and the brutal would always get more than the needy so that the products of his genius would only tend to create deeper discontent in those who could not scramble and deeper degradation in those who fought, and grabbed, and gained.
Again, if he should be confronted with the problem that was placed before a certain rich young man, "Go, sell all that thou hast and give to the poor,"
the new man—rich—would be "sorrowful." For whatever may have been the grade of the poor in a semi-pastoral country like Palestine, we know full well that not all the submerged tenth can lay the blame upon misfortune, except the misfortune of yielding to their own passions and whims and poor judgment. The new man understands very well that if he were to so divide his property, the result to any one individual would be so small as to provide no one with a permanency and yet at the same time sufficient to stop the wheels of industry because of the scattering of capital. The new man—rich—sees clearly the insincerity or at least the heedlessness of those who would persuade the poor that capital is the natural enemy of the laborer; for it is asking us all to believe that the progress of this country, and of the world in fact, could have been made just as well by clinging to the old ox carts; that the machinery of the day would all have been possible simply by the use of the old anvil and the hammer, and that the hungry mouths of the millions could have been fed by still swinging the old-fashioned scythe with its home-made snath or by still tramping out the harvests by the nona too clean feet of the amuzzled ox.
Capital has made such changes possible.

What then shall the new man—rich—do? Without taking away his capital from any of the enterprises that utilize labor and therefore keep roofs over the heads of the needy and make of the laborer himself the creator of new demands to keep other labor employed, he shall regard himself simply as a steward, entrusted with more ability, and, therefore, set for the up-lifting and for the benefit of the day he lives in. His giving, whether administered by himself or by some one paid to see that the cases are worthy,

shall cheer many a disconsolate home,
bring new hope into bruised hearts,
and pauperize none. He shall interest himself in those things that make the lives of all men more hopeful, more useful, thus disposing of his wealth by simply making opportunities for the young to study and perfect themselves, or the toilers to live in the atmosphere of high thought, he robs wealth of the harm that would come from a spend-able cash division and imparts to it only good by making of it a ladder by which ambitious students and eager workers can reach heights otherwise unattainable.

In relation to his own children the new man—rich—is careful to see that they do not for one moment despise labor, since capital and labor are one and their real interests are one. He passes on to his children the same feeling of responsibility that he himself has. He makes them understand that the opportunity before them is to bring the greatest good to the greatest number,
and if they fail in this they fail in everything that is worth reckoning as success in this world. And he lays down one broad principle for their guidance in spending money upon themselves—the wealth that takes the manhood from a man, that makes him hard and heartless towards others, that makes virtue a commodity, that gives false ideas of superiority, that pipes heedlessly while others suffer; such wealth is a crime and against it there shall arise envyings and hatreds until the needs of the poor become threats, and the threats acts, and in the acts a social retrogression whose blame shall lie at the door of the rich.

Would Paralyze Banking.

An alleged decision by Attorney General Akin, stating that boards of review have the power to compel banks to furnish a list of their deposits on the 1st of April for the purpose of enabling the board to get at tax-dodgers, can hardly be taken seriously. No one demands that a board of review shall establish a court of inquisition.
If such a decision should be carried out it will paralyze the banking business.

If it is understood that the banks must give the names of their depositors, when the 1st of April approaches the depositors will withdraw their deposits and the banks will have to call in their loans. Shortly before April 1st there would be a run on the banks by the withdrawal of deposits and private business interests would suffer.
The public injury would be so great the board could not afford to compel the banks to divulge the names of their de-positors.

Advent Campmeeting.

An annual Advent Christian campmeeting is being held this week near Mendota says the Reporter.

The peculiar views of these people, distinguishing them from other Protestant denominations, are the personal visible and soon return of Christ to this earth, to translate his people, raise the dead, and judge mankind;
also the doctrine known as Conditional Immortality. This doctrine asserts in substance that Man is not now immortal in either soul or body but is wholly mortal and capable of utter destruction. The wages of sin is maintained to be literal death, to be inflicted after the general judgment, in the lake of fire. At that time all sin and sinners will be forever destroyed, and the earth after being renovated and freed from the curse will be given to Christ's people for their eternal inheritance and home, fulfilling the Saviour's words.
"Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth."

Oratory.

The following appeared upon the fly leaf of a late number of the Illinois
official Reporters:

Mr. Justice Brewer of the United States Supreme Court is editing a work which is to contain "The World's Best Orations." The publisher of the work, Fred P. Kaiser, of St. Louis, not long since sent out numerous letters to leading lawyers, asking each one to name the four persons whom he regards as the greatest orators. This was, of course, preliminary to a call by the soliciting agent. A Colorado lawyer sent the following reply:

"Orator's differ in character:
For volume of hot air discharged per second: DeWitt Talmage.
For easy-running, ball-bearing jaw:
Wm. J. Bryan.
For squeaky, perpetual, rusty-swivel-action snarl: My precious wife Kittie.
For commanding presence, sweetness of tone, brilliancy of thought and expression, and persuasiveness of wink—(Modesty forbids my mentioning party's name.)"

—William Lister and wife drove to the Franklin Grove camp meeting yesterday.

—Drilling on the artesian well at Rochelle was stopped and a test made. If it should come to Geneseo, let us implore the people to let him alone. Don't bite at everything. We are willing for you to bite a few times a year, for it humbles your pride and does you good; but to bite right and left at all kinds of bait, like a bullhead biting at a hunk out of the heel of an old rubber boot, is too much. It makes us ashamed.—Geneseo News.

—A lady died and while the pall bearers were conveying the remains to their last resting place, by some mishap they stumbled and dropped the casket. The jolt brought the deceased back to life, and she lived six or seven years and died again. On the way to the cemetery they passed over the same ground, and when the pall bearers reached the identical spot where the tumble had been made at the previous funeral, the stricken husband stepped in front of those bearing the remains of his lamented wife, and said: "Steady, boys, steady."

—Ingersoll must have made millions of dollars; but he died poor. His life insurance was about all he left his family. Every beggar who approached him got money. He spent his money "as if a dollar was a leaf, and he was the owner of endless forests." That quotation is from him. And here is another of his sayings: "I do not see how it is possible for a man to die worth millions of dollars in a city full of pain, where every day he sees the withered hand of want and the white lips of famine! I do not see how he can do it, any more than he could keep a pile of lumber on the shore where hundreds and thousands were drowning in the sea."

A Substitute For Sixteen to One.

Democrats might make a real live issue out of the fact that there is a great scarcity of laborers, especially farm hands, about these days. Indeed complaint has come from nearly all industries, farming included, during the present summer, about the scarcity of men. "Men are not to be had to work at any price, and enterprise is thereby hindered," says an exchange. Now here is a pointer for the political platform maker. Why not insert a plank in the various "We view with alarm manifestoes" regarding the deplorable condition of the farmer, manufacturer, contractor, etc., as to the difficulty of procuring laborers?

Camp Meeting.

FRANKLIN GROVE, Ill., Aug. 21, 1899.

Among the pastors to arrive on the camp grounds Saturday were Revs. D. F. Hardie, Harmon; A. S. Mason, Sycamore; W. S. Wirsching, of St. John's church, Chicago, Robert Ellenwood, Rochelle.

Saturday the young people on the grounds were organized for spiritual work.

Rev. J. D. Leek of Dixon delivered the morning sermon Saturday, Epworth League Day. This pastor is a favorite on the camp grounds and already Rockford, Sterling and other cities are striving to secure him when his five years is finished at Dixon.

Rev. Leek selected for his text: "And if I be lifted up will draw all men unto Me." He said in part: "As I look on this congregation this morning I note every countenance is marked by distinguishing features. There is a God in history and His hand shapes the destiny of men. But I want you to know that the death of the Lord Jesus was the climax in the history of men. The truth of Christ draws men towards Him. He also draws by His character. As I present this Christ every man and woman who loves Him will be drawn toward Him."

Saturday afternoon Rev. E. W. Oneal, pastor of the Ashton and Franklin Grove charges, delivered a sermon to Epworth Leaguers, who were present until the tabernacle was more than filled. He told of the life of the Apostle Paul in an eloquent way. A consecration service led by Rev. W. H. Pierce of Rock Falls followed the sermon.

Sunday was Veterans Day, and the grounds was thronged with visitors from early morning until evening. Showers fell while the morning prayer meeting, under charge of Mrs. D. Gortelov of Albany, was being held. The annual love feast at 9 o'clock led by Dr. G. R. Vanhorn, of Rockford, was attended by over one thousand persons.

Rev. N. J. Harnness of Sterling delivered the sermon Sunday morning. An immense audience had gathered but this pastor was so hoarse he could not speak to be heard over a rod away. His text was I 52, 32, 2. He was followed by Rev. Grover C. Clark. At 1:00 the big Sunday school, under the direction of Supt. Pierce of Rock Falls, was held. The missionary collection amounted to $25.

Sunday afternoon the soldiers service was held. The great center square was packed. Rev. J. R. Creighler preached. Capt. Heller presented a resolution requesting Dr. Creighler to preach again next year.

Group meetings conducted by Revs. F. D. Stone, Erie; A. Hetrich, Compton; and Rev. Gostelow, Albany, were held during Sunday afternoon in various parts of the ground.

Epworth League services led by Rev. W. H. Pierce of Rock Falls, were held at 6 o'clock.

At the beginning of the Sunday evening service Rev. Clark, the presiding elder, announced that the camp meeting would last until Tuesday evening. That he would try to make the last days the best this year as in other years.

Monday morning, Rev. B. F. Hardy of Harmon, preaches; in the afternoon Rev. E. Holt of Earlville, and in the evening Rev. C. Warrington of Stewart.

VERNON ALLEN.

Autocratic Democrat.

No public man in all the history of politics has displayed the amount of egotism indicated by the utterances of W. J. Bryan whenever he speaks, at interview or on the platform. He has declared that "the platform should fit the party and the candidate should fit the platform." Bryan will furnish the candidate and the platform, but it is just possible that the party may not satisfactorily materialize. The language quoted is that of a man who owns his party. The views of the Democratic voters, the preferences of the delegates, the spirit of the convention, count for nothing. The question of his candidacy depends on whether he likes the platform. He is the arbiter and autocrat of the party. No aspirant for the presidential nomination in either party ever penned or uttered so impudent and egotistical a statement of his intentions.

WOOSUNG.

Aug. 21.—Mrs. T. E. Rand went to Polo Saturday for a visit with relatives.

Miss Bessie Brimblecom went to Devil's Lake Tuesday.

Miss Annie O'Brien was up from Dixon over Sunday.

Miss Mary Beede of Jordan visited at the Reichard home last week.

E. J. McGrath was a Dixon visitor Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Shyder of Dixon spent Sunday with friends north of town.

Jacob Orth attended the M. W. A. picnic in Oregon last Thursday.

Mrs. Lawrence Cavanaugh and daughter Margaret spent Sunday with Dixon friends.

Miss Minnie Lennox of Gap Grove was the guest of Mrs. Edward Hughes last week.

THE TRAMP'S SOFT SNAP

THOUGHT HE'D HAVE LITTLE TO DO BUT EAT.

He Had Not Calculated On the Work of Digging Through Mountains of Snow to Get Around.

"I was up in Vermont, near the Canadian line," said the tramp, "and a farmer offered to let me work for my board during the winter. As he had a big woodpile at the door, and only a few head of live stock to take care of, I jumped at the chance. I thought it would be three square meals per day, apples and popcorn in the evening and only about two hours' work out of the twenty-four. Two days after I had engaged with him there came a snowstorm. The farmer spoke of it as a 'furry,' but there was a fall of eighteen inches. He pointed to a snow shovel and told me to go to work. I dug paths to the barn, the well, the hencock and the pigpen, and had just got through moving about a hundred tons of snow when another 'furry' took place. Two feet more were added to the eighteen inches. I had to go all over my work again and keep open the road to the country school house besides. My back was still aching when there came what was called the setting in of winter. It began on a Monday evening and snowed right along till Thursday noon. By that time it was up to the second-story windows of the house, and you couldn't see a fence on the farm. It took me two days to uncover the house, and another to tunnel a path to the barn. I was kept at it for twelve hours per day for ten days, and during that time I believe I moved enough snow to make good sleighing all over the state of Rhode Island.

"There is only one thing harder than shoveling snow and that is sawing up hickory wood with a dull saw. Geewhiz, but didn't my back ache o' nights! I was ready to quit the job, but I couldn't get out of the country. There was seven or eight feet of snow on the highways and nothing moving and so I had to hang to the snow shovel. I wasn't quite around the house yet when another 'furry' added a foot to the depth. Then I thought it best to make a few inquiries and I asked the farmer:

"Do you call this an unusually hard winter?"

"Oh, no," he replied; "this is what we call an open winter."

"How much more snow do you look for?"

"Well, not over twenty feet."

"I had had enough of it," continued the tramp. "My figures showed that I had moved 50,000 tons of snow and that there were ten times as much coming. One day it rained for an hour and then turned cold and this formed a hard crust on the surface. Without saying good-by to the farmer I started off, and though my nose and ears were frost-bitten in getting out of the country, I never kicked about it. I had been tied to a snow shovel for three weeks and I don't propose to do another stroke of work as long as I live."

How He Felt.

"Isn't the sensation something queer when the balloon begins to soar upward?" asked the reporter. "Doesn't the balloon seem to be standing still and the earth receding from you?"

"It always seems that way," answered the aeronaut. "Because I'm generally afraid the fellow with the gate money will make off with it while I'm up in the air."

Barred.

"It was a good opportunity," said the actor, "but I had to give it up."

"What kind of a character was it?"

"Villain."

"Wasn't the salary enough?"

"Very liberal, and the manager a gentleman; but when I was a boy I promised my mother that I would never smoke a cigarette."—Washington Star.

TAKING A COLD PLUNGE.

IT WAS A GOOD THING ON THE OLD GENTLEMAN.

But He Did Not Count on Finding the Cake of Soap in the Bottom of the Tub.

"Um-m-m!" said Mr. Shivers, thoughtfully, laying down his paper. "I believe there is something in that."

"In what?" asked Mrs. Shivers.

"Why, in their 'Health Hints for the Helpless' they say that the reaction and the after-glow of cold morning baths is an infallible cure for neuralgia and rheumatism," explained Mr. Shivers.

"Cold water right out of the spigot, without any warm water at all?" cried Mrs. Shivers.

"Certainly," replied Mr. Shivers. "O-o-o-oh! I couldn't," shuddered Mrs. Shivers.

Mr. Shivers smiled a superior smile, says Harper's Bazar.

"Of course, it is rather heroic treatment, and requires considerable moral as well as physical courage, but to a man convinced of its efficacy that is of no consequence," he said, complacently, "and I certainly shall give it a fair trial. Besides," he continued, fortifying his sudden resolution, "it is not one sudden, freezing plunge, but a gradual immersion while you very slowly count six. Like this: One, and you put in one foot; two, you put in the other; three, you sink upon one knee; four, you kneel on both; five, you plunge in your arms, and six, you immerse your body. So, after all, it is not so very dreadful. Yes, I shall certainly try it to-morrow morning."

However, Mr. Shivers did not seem so enthusiastic in the morning. His wife let the cold water run, according to his instructions, until the tub was full to overflowing, but, in spite of reiterated information to that effect, he still lingered in bed.

"Jeremiah," cried Mrs. Shivers, at last, from the bureau, where she was doing up her hair, "this is the eleventh time I've called you, and you just must get up. You'll be late for breakfast as it is. You needn't try that bath if you are afraid of it," she added, with a laugh.

Slowly and reluctantly Mr. Shivers crept out from under the warm covers, silently casting a look full of reproach upon his smiling spouse, and into the bathroom, with the laggard step of one who has something weighing upon his mind. Then there was a long, a very long, wait. Nor was it until his wife had several times exhorted him to "Hurry up, Jeremiah!" that she heard him say:

"O-o-o-one. Ouch! Gosh!"

Then there was another wait, and another exhortation.

"T-t-t-t-twoooo. Ow-ow-ow-ow!"

Another wait and exhortation.

"Th-th-th-th-three-e-e" next came chattering from the bathroom, immediately followed by a bloodcurdling shout and a tremendous splash. Then there was a succession of agonized yells, and what Mrs. Shivers at first took for a streak of lightning flashed out of the bathroom, plunged into bed, and rolled itself tightly up in the covers.

"Why, Jeremiah!" gasped Mrs. Shivers.

Mr. Shivers simply glared and shivered.

"Woman," he growled, when he could control his chattering teeth, "did you have that cake of soap in the bottom of the bath tub on purpose?"

Was Safe, So He Remembered.

Charlie—Don't you remember? It was that day you borrowed 5 shillings of me.

Jack (hastily)—I don't recollect anything of the sort.

Charlie—But you paid it back next week.

Jack—Oh, yes; I remember that perfectly.—Tid-Bits.

SOME OF THE BEST.

There Are Also Many Others of Equal Force—Good Qualities That Put The Stamp of Excellence Upon This Article.

There are many reasons why you should take Morrow's Kidneys in preference to any other kidney medicine. First, Kidneys are a scientific preparation. Second they are tablets which is the scientific form of preparing medicine. Third, there are never any bad after-effects from their use. Fourth, they act directly on the kidneys; they are strictly a nerve tonic. Fifth, you do not have to stop work while using Kidneys. A fifty cent box contains enough for about two week's treatment. People use Kidneys because they cure kidney ailments.

Mrs. Frank Dalton, 423 Vermont street, Quincy, Illinois, says that she had kidney trouble for three years. "I suffered a severe pain in the small of my back all the time and had all the symptoms of kidney disorders; I grew weak and nervous, and then I became restless and could not sleep at night. I often got up in the morning more tired than when I went to bed. I was all run down generally and I continued to grow worse altho I had used kidney medicine all the time. My friends suggested that I try Morrow's Kidneys and I am glad that I did, for the first few doses brought me immediate relief; Kidneys in my case have worked like a charm, for I am today free from all my former ailments and I feel my old self again."

Morrow's Kidneys are truly a wonderful remedy for all forms of kidney disorders. They put up in wooden boxes and sell at fifty cents a box at D. S. Horton's Drug Store.

No Loss to Time.

Mr. W. S. Whedon, Cashier of the First National Bank of Winterstet, Iowa, in a recent letter gives some experience with a carpenter in his employ that will be of value to other mechanics. He says: "I had a carpenter working for me who was obliged to stop work for several days on account of being troubled with diarrhoea. I mentioned to him that I had been similarly troubled and that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy had cured me. He bought a bottle of it from the drugist here and informed me that one dose cured him, and he is again at his work." For sale by Rowland Bros.

The Man Who Lost Hope

Mr. H. N. Warner, of Minden, Neb., said:

"In 1894 I was attacked with paralysis in my left side. You might stick a pin to the head into my left hip and I would not feel it. I was unable to do any kind of work and had to be turned in bed. I made up my mind that I could not be cured as I had used all kinds of medicine and had tried many doctors. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and commenced their use last September. Before I had finished my first box I felt better, and by the time I had used six boxes the disease had entirely disappeared, and I have not been so free from pain since I was a boy. The paralysis since disappeared, and although two months have passed since I finished my last box, there has been no recurrence of the disease."—From the Gazette, Minden, Neb.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, and all forms of weakness either in male or female.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are never sold by the dozen or hundred, but always in packages. At all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., 50 cents per box, 6 boxes $2.50.

The Cruel Copy Reader.

The kid reporter heaved a sigh and lit a quoniam pipe. He had treated it to make it old—it certainly was "ripe." Then he glanced upon the paper and began his old refrain. For the copy reader's pencil had been at his work again.

O ye who toil in other fields beyond the fourth estate. You miss the joy it offers in the hours that are late. But you cannot know what grief it is, you cannot know what pain. To see your "biggest" story by the copy reader slain.

You got a good assignment and are told to "put it out." And you do it to a column and a half or thereabout. Then the newsroom gets a "fake" about some dago prince who's sick. And the copy reader's pencil cuts your story to a "stick."

It is probable that reader has a wife and child and he must have a heart somewhere in his anatomy. But the mills that grind exceeding fine and take so long to twist, Aren't in it for a minute with the copy reader's fist.

THE PINK LADY.

On a summer evening not so long ago the brightest, prettiest, daintiest (some said "wickedest," but that was a libel), most bewitching, coquettish, mischievous, good-hearted girl in Hovemoor stood before the mirror in her bedroom at the hotel, gathering the billowy folds of her pink muslin frock about her waist by means of a satin sash, and looking back at her reflection as she did so. On her head was a pink triumph—in other words, a shady hat—in her eyes lay a twinkle of mischief, and her chiffon sunshade lay on the bed.

A few minutes later, fully equipped, Miss Mary Gillington passed out through the vestibule. There was a travel-worn trunk in one corner with two initials on it, on which her eyes flickered with a gleam of satisfaction, then she stepped into the garden, and on down the cliff path leading to the beach. When this was reached she slackened pace, sauntering, as if to breathe ozone were her only object in life.

The tide was out; the beach was deserted save for a shrimp far out by the rock pools; the sand was smooth and yellow, as tempting as the ferrule of a sunshade as a sheet of fair paper to a scribbler. At any rate, the temptation seemed too great for the ferrule of Miss Gillington's sunshade; with a nonchalant air she prodded and scooped little tunnels in it; then, with elaborate carelessness she trailed the pretty sunshade up and down in something a trifle more stately. When this was done she gave a surreptitious glance of her merry eyes toward the cliff path, then sauntered on across the beach, trailing her sunshade as she went.

Soon after the dainty pink figure had disappeared round a group of rocks, a second figure came down the cliff path to the beach. A man, this time, of moderate height, honest features, and tanned complexion. He strolled along aimlessly, smoking a cigar, and looking alternately out to sea and at the surrounding scenery. The solitary shrimp seemed no intruder on the deserted beach, and the newcomer spread his arms slowly, and gave a huge stretch of contentment.

"It's good to be in England for a time," he thought, "and free—and idle—in a little place where no one knows, or cares, whether you're a power in the land or a trupper from town. But I wonder what fate led me here, of all places in the world?"

Then, like the pink lady, he sauntered on, but now his eyes were on the ground, and he prodded with his stick as he went. When, however, he reached the spot where the smoothness had been already ruffled, his thoughts received a jerk: there were two great letters written in the sand, and half consciously he stopped to read them. Then suddenly he stepped back, and gazed again.

"That's odd," he muttered at length, and his face flushed, and his eyes were interested. "It's nothing, of course. But S. F. It's a queer coincidence." Then he noted the small footprints and the trail of the sunshade, and unhesitatingly he followed them.

At the end of the trail he found the pink lady—the daintiest little person he had ever seen—and he stood abashed before her as she looked up with wide, innocent eyes, as if half startled at the intrusion. But he did not turn away.

"I beg your pardon," he stammered, "but I feel almost as if I couldn't help speaking to you."

She smiled tolerantly. "So many say that," she sighed.

His face fell. "O! You are one of—that sort."

"No," she replied calmly, "but they say I am."

He paused. "I am no gallant," he declared, simply, "but plain, unpolished."

"Ah! I am not that," she admitted. "But I hope you don't think it disrespectful or extraordinary of me to speak to you like this—without introduction?"

"I have been led to believe it is natural," she said demurely.

His grave eyes twinkled. He felt eager as a boy.

"I must tell you that I had been ordered home for a rest from India—not ill, you know, but fagged; that I did not want to come much, and did not know where to go; that while traveling along today I saw the sea here, and left the train and came to it. Thought I would be led by fate for awhile. I wondered if fate were playing cup and ball with me."

"Fate is no respecter of persons," she said, deprecatingly, but with a brilliant smile.

"This evening" he continued, "I took my first stroll on the beach, and there, on a spot I have never set eyes on before, I saw my own initials written on the sand." Miss Gillington looked up with innocent interest from under her shady brim. "Stretching far away from those letters was a faint trail across the sand, and at the end of that trail—you."

"Well," said Miss Gillington, in wonderment. "How strange! Were there really letters?"

"Really letters, S. F. My name is Stephen Fortescue," he volunteered.

"Stephen Fortescue! The—the—great—"

"Yes," he said, hurriedly. "I suppose they say so."

"Well, I never!" she exclaimed, in soft excitement.

"That is my excuse and my apology for addressing you. It seemed as if fate—"

"Had taken to sand copy books?" she queried.

"Or sat at the end of the final flourish," he suggested, boldly.

"O," said Miss Gillington. She did not dislike the boldness, but it was unexpected. "S. F.," she said, musingly.

"You wrote my initials, and I came," he said, gently.

"I think—I think I only meant 'Set Fair,'" she objected. "I noticed the barometer as I came through the vestibule."

"Well," he said thoughtfully. "Pon my word, I don't think it matters—Stephen Fortescue or Set Fair. The point is that you wrote it, and I came. May I sit down, please?"

The tide was still out. The shrimp was far away. The beach was deserted, but the man was so honest and winning, and after all it was fate's doing, so she crumpled her pink billows and gave permission as graciously as if the rock had been her private opera-box.

My Dear Nancy: Fancy my never having written to you since that day when I saw you off, and we both saw a certain great man's baggage at the station. Well, my dear, he did come to the hotel, and I did put on that pink frock, and I did—well—all that I vowed I would do to prove that not all the pretty girls go to India. And—O, well, of course, we got on all right, and I fully meant to tell him—when we'd become great friends—that I had known about his coming and really tried to captivate him just for a joke. But, somehow, I don't think I will after all. There wasn't much fun in it, really; these things sound stale when they're described. When are you coming to spend another day? Ever yours, Molly.

"P. S.—I've done such a ridiculous thing. I'm almost ashamed to tell you. I've fallen really in love with him! And we're to be married in October! The pretty girls do seem to go to India, don't they? It's too annoying—M. G."—Lloyd's News.

Russia's Treatment of Finlanders.

At the present moment the Finlanders are living under something very like a reign of terror, says the Fortnightly Review. The "preventive censorship" has been rigorously enforced against the daily and weekly press; agents provocateurs are scouring the country, insidiously endeavoring to work upon the feelings of the people and hurry them into indiscretions; Bobrikov's emissaries are industriously (and in vain, happily), endeavoring to corrupt those whom they cannot coerce.

All that the Finlanders can now do is to protest at home and educate public opinion abroad. Even in Russia they already possess the sympathies of the more liberal and enlightened portion of the community. Every day that passes brings with it fresh proofs that in St. Petersburg itself there is a strong feeling of indignation at the reactionary campaign now being carried on against the autonomy of Finland. The pastor of the Swedish church in the Russian capital has received a number of calls from eminent Russians, perfect strangers to him, who have expressed their horror and regret at the coup d'état in Finland. The Finnish book mart at the same place has been visited daily by Russians desirous to buy the works of the celebrated Finnish publicists, Danielsson and Meckelin, in order to study the Finnish question for themselves. Nay, in select circles in the Russian capital, speeches, universally applauded, have been made in favor of Finland, and it has been proposed, I am told, to send an address of sympathy to the estates of Finland in the name of the Russian aristocracy!

Curious Industry.

About the most curious industry the wayfarer will encounter in New York streets is that of selling "Chinese water lilies," says the New York Commercial Advertiser. There are two rival merchants engaged in it, on opposite sides of Park Place, near the elevated station. Both are old men, and as neither is ever seen to dispose of any of his wares the profits of the traffic must be set down as problematical.

No other industry calls for so small a space, the stock-in-trade consisting of two ordinary tumbler of water, in each of which one of the "lilies" is seen to be thriving in a fishy, pale-green sort of way, and a piece of brown paper in which a dozen or so of the undeveloped bulbs lie awaiting purchasers at 10 cents apiece. The bulbs resemble nothing so much as mere strips of black putty and even the green things in the glasses, which are supposed to have attained perfection, have an eel-like, unhealthy look, scarcely likely to appeal to any one save an enthusiast.

The two old chaps stick to their posts and steadily display their wonderful "lilies" notwithstanding, as remarked before, that nobody was ever seen to buy one. It is a tossup, indeed, whether nineteen passers-by out of every twenty would not decline to receive the entire outfit of either old merchant as a gift.

SPLENDID FARM FOR SALE.
 The Whitney farm, located about two miles from Franklin Grove, in this county, consisting of 360 acres, is offered for sale. The dwelling of thirteen rooms, is one of the best farm houses in the county, commodious, thoroly built and in excellent condition. The two connected buildings, used by Mr. Whitney in the manufacture of cider, together being 32x60, can readily be converted into a model stock barn. They have a continuous well-lighted basement 100 feet long and eight feet in the clear, with walls of heavy masonry and with cemented floors. One of these buildings, 32x60, is built of heavy timbers, and has two stories above basement, which are ceiled thruout.

The farm is watered by a never-failing brook. A large variety of trees affords ample shelter for stock. It has 1500 bearing apple trees in good condition. The soil is of the best, in a section noted for its productive and well-improved farms. Crops will compare favorably with the most promising. A public highway runs thru the tract dividing it into two parts of about equal size, the homestead and other buildings above mentioned being on one and a tenant house with other suitable out-buildings on the other. They can be operated as separate farms, if desired. Each part is watered by the brook referred to.

One of the parts of the farm is subject to mortgage for $6,000, and the other to one of $3,000, each or either of which can be paid on sixty days notice, or may run for five years, at owner's option, with six per cent interest.

Here is a rare chance to buy a superior farm. Address or call on A. C. BARDWELL, Dixon, Ill., for further particulars. 29t3&213d-e-o-d-f
